D.C. Street Collapses, 25 Moved

By FRANK La PIERRE

A Daly City thoroughfare caved in shortly before 7 p.m. last Thursday, sliding tons of sand and debris down a steep hillside and rupturing a 14-inch water main.

Cause of the Eastmoor Avenue collapse was still being investigated late this morning by city engineers. First reports indicated the slide may have been caused by grading on the side of the hill by a local developer.

The avalanche stopped less than 100 yards from a row of middle-class homes on Larchmont Street in Broadmoor Village. Water gushed from the huge (60 x 100 foot) cavity and sent a torrent of water rushing through the yards of at least three of the homes.

Evacuate 25

Units of the Red Cross evacuated some 25 persons from six homes directly in the path of the slide, while work emergency crews hurried to shut off water and gas lines.

For several hours a heavy pall of gas hung over the neighborhood and fire crews stood by while police erected roadblocks on the normally busy street. Cars were routed around the hole and a city official said normal traffic will "probably not be resumed along Eastmoor Avenue for several days."

A striking city Water Department employee at the scene called the collapse "predictable."

He asked that he not be identified, but said city officials had been told last week that "there is some movement along that section of Eastmoor Avenue." The man explained the section that concerned him and fellow water department employees was along Eastmoor Avenue above the site of the present grading operation.

The city council okayed a zone change for construction of apartments in the area about two months ago and work had been progressing normally.

Daly City battalion fire chief Frank Specht was driving along Eastmoor Avenue on his way home Thursday night when the road "disappeared in front of Specht quickly called emergency crews to the scene and directed traffic until they arrived.

On the other side of the hole a small compact car with a lone unidentified driver braked inches short of disaster when he apparently noticed the cave-in directly in front of his car at the last minute. The right front wheel of the vehicle plunged into the hole.

Luckily there were no injuries in the slide.

Officials were keeping their fingers crossed that the weather will hold, at least until repairs can be made to the roadway and adjacent areas.

"If we get wet weather now, we're in real trouble," one worried official remarked.

Meanwhile, an army of heavy equipment began cleaning away the tons of sand and debris. Repairs were expected to be made (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

Wander Inn Development Is Approved

By DON GRIERSON

Pacifica councilmen Monday voted unanimously to introduce an ordinance approving development of a convention center and luxury apartment complex on the Wander Inn property at San Pedro Beach.

In introducing the ordinance, Mayor Nick Gust and members of the council stipulated that final approval will be contingent upon a demonstration of adequate financial resources on the part of developer Kurt Heath and other principals of Hamlet Realty Co., owners of the property.

Council action on the developer's request for "planned development" zoning of the 23-acre beachfront site came after a series of meetings between city officials, Heath, and Division of Highways representatives.

City officials had expressed concern over the possibility that the commercial portions of the planned development might be abandoned if too much of the site were sliced away by the proposed road improvements, and the city would be left with only an apartment development.

However, Heath presented overlay maps Monday showing an allotment of seven acres for commercial development at the site.

The new plans also allow four acres for apartment development, and two acres for mixed commercial-residential development of the property.

Heath said a decision to use a frontage road which will be built alongside the freeway as part of the internal traffic pattern for the new development saved a considerable portion of the land area.

He told councilmen Monday that only 100 apartment units will be constructed initially, with further apartment development a possibility in the future.

"It is necessary to build at least 100 apartment units in order to obtain financing and provide such amenities as swimming pool and tennis courts," he said.

Construction of the apartments will begin within nine months of final council approval of the project, and work will begin on the convention center within 15 months of approval, Heath said.

A longer period is required for the preparation of plans for the convention center because of the more complex nature of such a development, he said.

However, Heath told council members his firm will not apply for permission to construct more apartments until the convention center is completed.

Teen Center Doomed By Development

An unfortunate side effect of Monday's progress toward ultimate development of a convention center and apartment complex on the Wander Inn site in Pacifica will be the early closing of the teen-age recreation center which opened Friday in the abandoned tavern building.

In his agreement with the council, developer Kurt Heath pledged Monday to begin actual construction of the apartments within nine months after council approval of planned development zoning for the 23-acre site, and to begin work on the hotel-motel center within 15 months.

The council is expected to vote final approval for the project at the next regular meeting.

Mayor Nick Gust and members of the city staff are already looking about for a facility to replace the Wander Inn building as a meeting place for the teen-agers, and at least one other site is under consideration.

This is the small site of an abandoned sewer treatment plant at Rockaway Beach.

A concrete slab complete with plumbing and wiring connections was installed at the site a few years ago by the Millards Automobile Club, a teen-age organization which has since become inactive.

City officials have discussed the possibility of negotiating with the Millards to have the site turned over to the newly-formed Youth of Pacifica organization for development of a permanent teen center.

More than 500 youths turned out for the grand opening of the Wander Inn facility last weekend, confirming the teen-agers' complaints that they had "nothing to do but hang around the shopping centers" before obtaining the property.

Mayor Gust Monday praised the youths who worked on renovating the building, and promised city support in obtaining another site when developers take over the property.

Gust also appealed for adult support for the city's teen-agers in this "worthwhile endeavor."

Mini-Bike Operators Must Be 16

A spokesman for the State Department of Motor Vehicles has corrected a statement appearing in last week's Post concerning the age of mini-bike operators.

According to the DMV, the legal age limit for obtaining a license to operate such a vehicle is 16 years old, NOT 15½ as reported.

He explained that the minimum age for such operation with an instructor's permit is 17½. The law was changed from the previous 15½ years old to the present age restrictions last year.

Strikers Picket Council Meeting

The Daly City council — two members short — breezed smoothly through its regular meeting last night while more than 120 disgruntled pickets paraded outside.

Mayor Bernard (Bud) Lycett chose to ignore the pickets during the half-hour long meeting and did not comment on their presence either before, during or after the regular council session at City Hall.

As he had vowed earlier, councilman Edward J. Dennis, president of the Milk Drivers and Dairy Employees Union, drove up to the Civic Center at 7:45 p.m. (15 minutes before the scheduled meeting) turned around and retreated from the scene.

Another councilman, Anthony Giammona, is vacationing out of town. Only Mayor Lycett, Councilman Frank Pacelli and Councilman Michael DeBernardi attended the meeting along with a scattering of other city officials and three interested citizens.

The meetings are normally well-attended.

Many of the pickets were "plain concerned citizens of Daly City," according to Frank Gillis, business representative for Local 919 of the State County and Municipal Employees Union.

Some striking municipal employees even brought their small daughters and sons out, and in at least two cases, their pets.

One canine carried a double-sided placard reading, "If he don't work — I don't eat." Another noted: "37½ hours in June; 40 hours in August; 44 hours next year?" The latter was in protest to the council's recent resolution giving 40-hour employees a five per cent raise and 37½-hour employees only a 2½-per cent raise. Many voiced the opinion the move was aimed at forcing them to work longer hours.

Some pickets were poets: "Don't be unfair, Mr. Mayor, Let's all share."

Mayor Lycett passed easily through the line without incident. However, assistant city manager David Rose was greeted by boos and catcalls as he drove into the city hall parking lot as were other department heads.

Gym Classes At Pacifica

Gymnastics classes are being offered by the Pacifica Recreation Department on Saturday morning starting October 5. Classes are scheduled at Ocean from 10 to 11 a.m. and at Terra Nova from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Classes are open to children from 7 to 12 years. The program will include work in the areas of tumbling, trampoline, free-exercise, balance beam and parallel bars. Fee for the eight-week course is $3. Registration for the program starts the week of September 3, and will be taken at the Recreation Department office at City Hall.

EMPLOYEES PICKET MEET — More than 120 striking municipal employees, several local citizens and a couple of canines, paraded outside the Daly City City Hall Monday night during a regular meeting of the council. The employees are protesting recent wage and fringe benefits given them last week. The strike is now on in its second week. (Post Photo)

Drastic Cuts Proposed For J.E.S.D.

Jefferson Elementary School District trustees will consider recommendations for budgetary cuts for the coming school year at next Tuesday's board meeting, District Supt. Frank Greenwood said today.

The most drastic budget cut proposals are in the area of transportation.

"The people's decision to limit the tax rate of the district necessitates a reduction of expenditures accordingly," Greenwood said, "and I have proposed that we curtail transportation, except in those cases where distance and safety hazards are extreme."

If the board acts upon the superintendent's recommendations, transportation at the Abraham Lincoln, Christopher Columbus, Fernando Rivera, George Washington and Westlake Schools will be "appreciably affected."

"Transportation will be furnished to students attending Benjamin Franklin School who live south of Westmoor Street," he said. "All other transportation to that facility will be eliminated."

"Transportation at the Colma Intermediate School will remain the same as last year, except for the fact that there will not be a bus from the Woodrow Wilson area."

"All transportation, except that for five children who live near the cemeteries, will be eliminated at the Colma K-8 School, and seventh grade students attending Fernando Rivera School will receive transportation from the Christopher Columbus area only," Greenwood said.

Transportation will be completely eliminated in the case of the Garden Village School, and all children attending the Woodrow Wilson School will walk, the superintendent said.

"Franklin D. Roosevelt School will be served by busses for (Please See Page 2, Column 5)

County Hikes Tax Rate by 35 Cents

The bad news about the county tax rate was announced today by County Manager E. R. Stallings and it was worse than expected.

Stallings told the Board of Supervisors that the rate, which has been reduced each of the past nine years, will be increased this year by 35.5 cents to a new total of $1.6834 for each $100 of assessed valuation.

The county manager said Controller E. J. McGuire Jr. computed the new high figure as necessary to finance the record $73 million county government spending programs in the 1968-69 fiscal year.

The $1.68 figure came as a shock to the supervisors, who have lost no opportunity in recent years to boast of the string of annual tax rate reductions and point out that San Mateo County had the lowest tax rate in the state. In budget meetings the possibility of a 15 to 20-cent increase in the rate this year had been discussed by the supervisors, but nothing approaching the actual size of the increase.

Stallings blamed the necessity for the big jump on the fact that revenues for the past fiscal year were overestimated while mandatory expenditures were underestimated.

He acknowledged that a desire to keep the record of consecutive tax reduction intact was also a factor, in that it led to tighter budgeting over the years than might have been the case otherwise.

The new tax rate includes for the first time this year a levy for land acquisition. Acting on the demands of conservationist groups, the Board of Supervisors agreed to levy a 5-cent rate for acquisition of park and open space lands. The total figure also includes 1.79 cents for other land acquisition.

The rate increase for general fund purposes is 28.77 cents, McGuire said a 20.47-cent rate will be necessary this year for county library purposes. The figure is an increase of 3.32 cents over the rate for the past fiscal year. It applies to all county property except that in the eight cities that are not in the county library system: Burlingame, Daly City, Hillsborough, Menlo Park, Redwood City, San Bruno, San Mateo and South San Francisco.

Stallings said a major factor causing the general tax rate increase was an overestimation of the amount of reimbursement that would be received from the state under the Medi-Cal program. Because the program was new, he explained, budget requirements for that purpose were uncertain.

As a result of overestimating revenues and underestimating expenses in such areas as care of juvenile court wards and criminal defense, the county ended the fiscal year with extremely small fund balances.

Developer Wins Approval For Pacifica Project

The developer had originally proposed to build as many as 800 apartment units on the site, alongside a small convention center designed to handle groups of 200 to 400 visitors.

The compromise plans he presented Monday represented a "considerable reduction in the proposed multiple residential use" of the property, and more nearly suit the council's stated aim of obtaining a "commercial-recreation" development in the city.

"What we want is the convention center," Councilwoman Grace McCarthy said. "The apartment complex is merely ballast."

Heath told councilmen two weeks ago there is a drastic shortage of facilities to accommodate small conventions in the Bay Area, "and as many as 600 groups are turned away each year because the San Francisco convention center will not accept them."

Dance Classes For Beginners

The South San Francisco Recreation and Park Department announces that the Forty-niners, Whirl-A-Ways, and Western Twirlers Square Dance Clubs will conduct a beginners square dance class for adult couples Monday evenings starting September 16.

The square dance classes will be held at Siebeck Recreation Center, 510 Elm Court in South San Francisco from 8-10:30 p.m. There is a fee for the series of classes. However, the first night of attendance is free so that new dancers may give the lessons a free tryout. Registration will be open for a three week period. The instructor for the series will be Ed Looney. Interested South San Francisco residents are especially encouraged to attend.

The Gingham Squares will also start a beginners square dance club on Wednesday evenings at Avalon School in South San Francisco. The class will start Wednesday, September 11 at 8 p.m. and is under the direction of Bob Page.

Plan Carnival At Pacifica

A neighborhood carnival for the benefit of the American Association for Muscular Dystrophy will be held Saturday, in the parking lot of the Lutheran Church at 533 Hickey Boulevard in the Fairmont area of Pacifica.

The ringmaster will be Cheryl Abbott, aided by her brother and sister Bob and Donna and friends Judy, Eileen, Laura, Danny, Sandy, Mary, Lori and Gary.

The carnival begins at 1 p.m. and will have such games as Milk Bottle Toss, Penny Pitch, Pop the Balloon and Bean Bag Toss. Pictures of Movie and TV stars will be given to everyone who plays the games and prizes will be given to winners. All the proceeds will be sent to the American Association for Muscular Dystrophy to aid the fight against this disease. Donations have been made by the merchants in the Fairmont Shopping Center, Telephone Company, TV and movie studios and candy companies to help make the carnival a big success.

New Tax Rate Approved By S.S.F. Council

South San Francisco councilmen Monday approved a 1968-69 property tax rate of 91 cents for each $100 of assessed valuation, the same tax rate currently in effect in the city.

Taxes for property owners in the West Park parks and parkway maintenance district were reduced from $1.15 to $1.05 for each $100 of assessed valuation.

The 91 cent rate will raise $1,533,886 in new city revenues, and the park maintenance district will have an operating budget of $19,740.

The council also approved a five per cent "across-the-board" cost of living salary increase for city employees, and an additional 1.5 per cent increase for 187 employees, including the police and fire department personnel.

Prepare Drawings Of Site

Facts Needed For Zoning

Pacifica city engineers and designers for Developer Kurt Heath were instructed by the council this week to prepare "drawings and overlays" showing the land use planned for the Wander Inn site.

Councilmen requested the drawings showing the percentage of the property which will be developed for commercial recreation, and what portion as an apartment complex, at a meeting with Heath and Division of Highways engineers this week.

A clear indication of development plans will be necessary before the council can decide upon Heath's request for "planned development" zoning of the 23-acre parcel, Mayor Nick Gust said.

A portion of the site will be lost when the Division of Highways improves the Cabrillo Highway through Pacifica to "freeway standards," and councilmen have expressed concern over development of the remainder of the choice beach front property.

Heath has presented plans for a small convention center, and "as many as 800" luxury apartments on the property.

City officials are seeking assurance that the commercial portion of the project will not be abandoned if it becomes necessary to delete part of the development.

Heath has assured the council that the hotel-motel convention center will be built, and a portion of the apartment complex will be deleted if there is not enough land for the entire development.

Mayor Gust instructed the engineers to present their drawings at Monday's council meeting, but City Mgr. C. W. Masonheimer said today it "appears doubtful" the work can be completed that soon.

"The matter will likely be continued to a later meeting," Masonheimer said.

those children who live north of Menlo Street."

"Transportation will be furnished to children who would normally attend Woodrow Wilson, but are being bussed to John F. Kennedy and Westlake School for the district's convenience," Greenwood said.

"There will be no transportation to the John F. Kennedy School, with the above exception."

Greenwood said the district will save approximately $20,000 immediately if his recommendations on transportation are approved next week, "though 750 to 900 children will be denied bus service."

"Unless additional operating funds are forthcoming from some source by the beginning of the 1969-70 school year, I will recommend the total elimination of bus service in the district," the superintendent said.

Other economy measures proposed by the superintendent include a return to double session kindergarten classes of 150 minutes, compared to last year's 180-minute sessions and plans for 200-minute sessions for the current year.

"This will reduce the staff needs by 10 teachers," Greenwood said, "and capital outlay by approximately $80,000."

Plans are also underway to "absorb" five remedial reading teachers in other classroom situations, should the state curtail funds for special teachers, he said.

Under another proposal, children attending seventh and eighth grade schools will no longer be supplied towels for showers following physical education classes.

This will result in an annual saving of $8,000, the superintendent said. "Students will have to furnish their own towels until further notice."

Voters in the district turned down an appeal for a 50-cent increase in the school tax last month, and $86,000 will have to be trimmed from this year's budget as a result according to the administration.

Taxi Owner Claims Malice Aforethought

The operator of Pacifica's only taxi company got more than he expected this week when he applied for a ten cents per mile increase in his fare rates.

Instead of simply granting the rate hike, the city decided to revamp the taxi ordinance, and Pacifica Cab Co. owner George McMahon said he was "overwhelmed by the restrictions the city wants to put on one little cab operator."

"These proposed regulations are such that I would have no time to provide cab service if I fully complied," McMahon said.

"This is being done with malice aforethought," he added.

Among other things, the proposed ordinance revisions would require that every cab operated in the city be cleaned out every 48 hours.

"I have no objections to keeping my cars clean," McMahon said, "but under this ordinance, a nit-picking police department could put me out of business in no time at all."

The taxi operator has appealed for a rate increase from 50 cents for the first one-fifth mile to 60 cents for the first one-sixth mile, and from 50 cents for each mile thereafter to 60 cents for each subsequent mile.

Councilmen promised to study the ordinance further, and act upon McMahon's request at a later date.

Flood Project Groundbreaking

GROUND BREAKING ceremonies for the new San Bruno Flood Control Project were held this week, and work on the long-awaited improvements is now underway. The most vital portions of the flood control improvements are expected to be completed by December, engineers said, and the entire project

Clerks Form New Organization

At a series of summer meetings climaxed by adoption of Constitution and Bylaws, five North Peninsula locals of the United Federation of Postal Clerks have formed a new association to be known as the Peninsula Council of Postal Employees.

Of the seven prospective charter member locals of the league, five — South San Francisco 1231, San Bruno 3086, Daly City 6159, Pacifica 5970 and Millbrae 3348 — have already completed the preliminary phase, as a guiding nucleus for the organization. Brisbane and Burlingame units hold the other two charter bids, and the P.C.P.E. hopes to expand southward in the County next year.

Objectives of the new Peninsula Council are "to unite postal employees ... for their social and economic advancement ... to facilitate exchange of information in order "to promote cooperation in advancing the interests of each of the locals ... and to aid all workers in distress."

Busy Weekend For San Bruno Police

San Bruno traffic police were catching their breath today following one of the busiest weekends in the history of the department with six major accidents reported in a 72-hour period.

First accident reported involved Arthur Thompson, 23, of 241 B Street, South San Francisco.

Sneath Lane shortly after 10 p.m. Friday when he lost control of his car on a sharp curve, spun out and rolled over five or six times, according to police. The victim was taken to Peninsula Hospital for treatment of a possible back injury.

Saturday morning, at 7:50 a.m., two San Francisco drivers were involved in an injury accident on Page 14

Officers elected for the remainder of 1968 are: President, Bernie Langfelder, 107 Springwood Way, South San Francisco; vice president, Dick Griffith, 135 Madison Avenue, San Bruno; Secretary, Mary Ann Ellefson, 271 Milagra Drive, Pacifica; and Treasurer, Jack Oroz, 167 West Moltke, Daly City.

Serving on the Constitutional Committee, in addition to the officers, were Bill Cosbie, 604 Bonita Avenue, Millbrae; and Will Harmon, 454 Ferndale Avenue, South San Francisco.

The Peninsula Council plans to hold its first of projected semi-annual dinner meetings for the general membership of all the locals in October, with a featured speaker on national postal legislative matters.

San Brunan Wins Army Praise

Army Specialist Five Richard L. Averett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Averett, 798 Easton Ave., San Bruno, Calif., received the Army Commendation Medal August 8 near Long Binh, Vietnam for meritorious service with the U. S. Army.

Spec. Averett is a stenographer in Headquarters Company of the 1st Signal Brigade. He entered the Army in September 1966, completed basic training at Ft. Lewis, Wash., and was last stationed at Ft. Gordon, Ga., before arriving overseas in January 1968.

The 28-year-old soldier attended Capuchino High School, San Bruno, and graduated in 1964 in Vernal, Utah. from Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah, with a B. A. degree. His wife, Elaine, lives in Vernal, Utah.

Jeff High Adult Class Schedules

Jefferson Union High School District Adult Education classes, ranging through 150 sections in 10 general areas of study, will open for the Fall Semester on September 10. Principal Thomas A. Redmond has announced.

Adults attending the JUHSD Division can literally move from the first grade right on through to a high school diploma while working in a multitude of academic courses, as well as in Americanization, business education, fine arts and crafts, foreign languages, health education, homemaking, industrial arts, music and special elementary subjects.

Included in the above departments are such diverse special interest classes as driver education, slide rule, creative writing, aeronautics, first aid, food preparation and baking, and many others.

To assist students in implementation of their courses of study is a full-time counseling program and six part-time advisors. Also available will be the various tests used as aids for guidance. Counselors and advisors will have information on the testing programs.

Enrollment is uncomplicated. There are no residence requirements, and all registration will start September 10th, beginning at 7 p.m., during which time enrollment will be made at the time and place of the first class meeting, as indicated on the schedule.

Virtually all classes may be taken for credit (any person 18 years of age or older is eligible to enroll). Students attending for course credit and Citizenship and Foreign Speaking students are exempt from the regular $1.00 tuition fee, which entitles students going for diplomas to enroll in an unlimited number of classes.

For further details, a brochure is available at all places of registration, at public libraries in the various neighborhoods, and elementary schools in Daly City and Pacifica.

LE PACINI

Oldtimer's games usually make us said, so we seldom attend. We couldn't help wondering however as we listened to the broadcast of the 1948 Seals-Oaks Old Timers game, how many of those old "minor leaguers" who spent their careers in the Coast League, wouldn't today have been at least journeyman big leaguers, if not stars.

The irony of it all is that the late Seals owner, Paul I. Fagan, was calling the Coast League a third major league 20 years ago. And he in turn was called a crackpot. Someday we'll have to do a column on this man, who was 20 years ahead of his time. But back to the subject. We're not saying that the 1948 Coast League was of major league caliber then as compared to the National and American leagues AT THAT TIME, what we are saying is that the 1948 Coast League was major league as compared to TODAY'S National and American leagues.

What we'll be getting, when four more teams are added to make it a grand total of 24 "major league" teams, is just another 1948 Coast league. Baseball will be reverting, not progressing. Already there's talk of eventually doing away with the division system they've now devised and going to a third eight team league. As Fagan said 20 years ago, a coastal major league would include San Francisco, Los Angeles, Oakland, San Diego, Seattle, Portland... sound familiar? Oh yes, the rumor is strong that Portland will someday HAVE to get a franchise to make Seattle work.

Baseball, as they always say in the triles, is a game of inches, a game hanging precariously on weights and measurements infinitesimally balanced. At one time major leaguers were known as "the 400," meaning the 25 men from each of the eight big league teams which made up baseball's exclusive club of the Best.

Somehow, through some ethereal process, baseball evolution had determined that there would always be only 400 men truly capable of playing the best brand of baseball imaginable, just as that same process had determined that the most perfect distance from the pitcher's mound to the plate should be an odd 60 feet, six inches, and that the perfect distance between bases would be 90 feet.

Baseball should have known better than to mess around with its own perfect balances, but the scales have been greedily tipped. Allowing more than 400 men to play major league baseball is as upsetting to the game as would be moving the pitcher's mound in six inches or making the distance between bases 90 feet, nine inches.

Even the potentially authentic major leaguer is being risked through "force-feeding." Many of the great young pitchers, being rushed up to the majors before physical maturity, are sore-armed has-beens in their early 20's. Promising young hitters, shoved in front of large, major league crowds in their teens, tighten up, go bad, lose confidence and never make it back.

We noticed in the box score of that oldtimer's game — we somehow missed it in the broadcast — that Roy Nicely went one-for-one. On the strength of that, he might be ready for one of the expansion teams. We remember when Nicely was struggling to hit .220 for the Seals (one year he hit .190), and everybody was saying that with his glove, all he had to do was hit .250 and he'd go to the majors. Hell, with his glove many teams today would take him if he could hit .199!

We've never seen a better shortstop than Nicely, especially going in the hole, the prime requisite for any good shortstop. When Roy could no longer break .200, O'Doul tried to make him a pitcher. Today, O'Doul would bat him cleanup. Another man born too soon.

As you undoubtedly have, we've heard many, many solid reasons advanced this past season as to the reason for the weak hitting. One of the most unique — and possibly the best — that has been advanced appeared in a recent Lee Allen column in the Sporting news. He reports on the theory of a magazine publisher named Donald V. Bangert, who notes that while all baseball players are bigger and stronger than ever, this advantage benefits only the pitcher. He reasons that while we become bigger, "there is no concomitant improvement in our reflexes, with the result that the batter cannot meet the baseball with any more instinctiveness than Willie Keeler could, but that the pitcher, who relies on brute strength, can do better because more efficient reflexes are not required in his art."

Another theory advanced through Allen, aside from the usual (night baseball, the slider, the fresh pitcher, the homerun swing, etc.), comes from an unnamed high baseball official. He says youngsters must be taught to hit baseballs. As he points out, in Little League the emphasis is on pitching. The hitters get three swings and a bunt and are told to move out of the batter's box.

He's right. How many kids do you see, anymore, spending an entire Saturday afternoon hitting baseballs until they develop blood blisters?

One other good theory we've heard in recent weeks from several baseball men. Batters don't move around in the box like they used to, don't adjust. How often do you see a batter, for instance, move up to the front of the box to try to catch that curve before it breaks? Too many hitters now stand firm in the same position no matter where they're playing, what the situation is, who's pitching, or what he's pitching.

It's getting to the point where the question is no longer, how will statisticians dig up enough .300 hitters for a Top Ten, but will they dig up enough .280 hitters.

Another old-timer who we DID see, Mickey Mantle, looks like he's about ready for old-timer games. We saw Mantle when he was 18, during the '62 World Series, and thought we should take one last look at him when he was in Oakland, recently. We're sorry we did. He should retire.

Jaycees to Host New Teachers

Pacifica Jaycees will hold their Fourth Annual Welcome Teachers Luncheon for the Laguna Salada school district tomorrow at the Long Table restaurant.

According to the Jaycee project chairman, Mike Mossness, a History teacher at Oceana High School, financial support for the "Welcome Teachers" program is provided from Challenge Developments, Inc.

Lee Reiwer, Jaycee vice president, will serve as host and master of ceremonies at the noon-to-two luncheon for the 90 new teachers expected.

For the city's leading figures will speak to the group of teachers about Pacifica and the surrounding community.

The speakers will be Mayor Nick Gust; Van Johns, manager of the Chamber of Commerce; Chet Gdyck of Challenge Developments, Inc. and Pacifica Tribune editor and publisher William Drake.

The Pacifica Jaycees conduct the "Welcome Teachers" project as part of their Community Development Program. The Jaycees solicit the support of Challenge Developments, Inc. each year for the monetary aid necessary to host the luncheon affair.

Unique Fund Drive Starts For Vietnam

One of the unique fund-raising drives in San Mateo County history, the MARCAP-V campaign for direct aid to civilian victims of the war in South Vietnam, is now under way.

In every community from Daly City through Menlo Park, volunteer leaders are coordinating direct mail appeals for funds to purchase medical supplies, food, clothing, shelter, building materials and educational resources.

Marines in the field administer the funds—calling them in for villages and hamlets in need without waiting to untangle administrative red tape.

MARCAP is short for Marine Reserve Civilian Assistance Program-Vietnam. County civilian co-chairmen are Thomas F. Lewis and Raymond Hemming of San Mateo. Lt. Col. Howard A. Looney of Hillsborough (U.S. Marine Corps Reserve) is military co-chairman. Honorary chairman is County Supervisor T. Louis Chess.

Community co-chairmen include Robert M. Connelly, Atherton; Gil Armando, Belmont; Paul Von Kempf, Colma; Edward M. Bauer, Jr., Half Moon Bay; Mrs. Frank Lynn, Hillsborough; Samuel A. Ingebrigt, Menlo Park; David L. Harris, Menlo Park; Frank J. Gagliardi, Millbrae; Ernest Ribera, Pacifica; Robert Peer, Portola Valley; Trent Moseley, Redwood City; William A. Hagan, San Bruno; Tom Lynch, San Carlos; Ed Strother, San Mateo; F. D. (Dick) Minucci, South San Francisco, and Norman C. McKee, Woodside.

Wine-Tasting Party Friday

The Pacifica Jaycees are hosting a Wine Tasting Party at the Muffin Mine in Eureka Square on Friday from 5:30 to 7:00 p.m. Sebastiani Wines will be served.

Invitations are in the process of being mailed. The donation of $1.00 will benefit one of the many youth organizations of Pacifica. The public is invited to attend. For further information contact Jaycette Mimi Tamarino at 359-5221.

Support Is Asked In Vote

Unless a proposed $1.5 million bond issue is approved by Pacifica voters in November, the Laguna Salada School District will be unable to undertake any new building projects in the foreseeable future, District Supt. Fred Lucas said this week.

In an appeal for support for the bond authorization, Lucas pointed out that approval will result in no additional taxes for Pacifica residents.

"However, without the bond issue, we would lose already approved and available state school building aid funds for site purchase, school construction and equipment," he said.

The district is required under law to remain bonded to five per cent of its assessed valuation in order to qualify for the state funds, according to the superintendent.

"Laguna Salada School District has continuously maintained the greatest numerical rate of student increase of all San Mateo County elementary districts so that it is now the county's fourth largest," Lucas said.

"Planning ahead is essential to accommodate the students to result from current and future development of remaining available land, which is equivalent in size to the already settled area of Pacifica," Lucas said.

50-Plus Plan Is Endorsed

Pacifica councilmen Monday adopted a second resolution in support of the city's Fifty-Plus Club's position favoring exemption of social security payments and property tax relief from calculation as income in considering state welfare payments.

City Manager C. W. Masonheimer was instructed to forward copies of the resolution to the county's legislative delegation and the governor's office.

The council adopted a similar resolution several weeks ago in support of a bill to provide the exemption.

USES

Caribbean islanders use every part of the coconut palm. Fronds thatch roofs; the waxy blossoms decorate homes; the nutshell converts to charcoal. The meat becomes oil and soap; the soft palm heart delights gourmets, and the wood makes fine paneling.

This bill was passed by both the senate and assembly, but was vetoed by the governor's office.

A new bill is expected to be introduced in an upcoming special session of the legislature.

Both the council and Fifty-Plus Club spokesmen urged elderly citizens to go ahead and apply for their exemptions, even though the matter is still pending.

SIDEWALKS

Pedestrians in the holy city of Meshed, Iran, walk on sidewalks made of tombstones, the National Geographic says. The worn slabs mark the site of an ancient Moslem cemetery from which the graves were removed long ago.

OMEN

In the 15th century, if a newly signed seaman heard a sneeze at his left as he went aboard, he would jump ship, for he considered the voyage to be doomed. At sea, goblins were blamed for snarled running gear and ripped sails.

Roundup of Strike Activities in Daly City

Libraries Close

Supervisory personnel were keeping disruption of services to a minimum in Daly City as an all-out strike of municipal employees entered its second week.

A spokesman for the city said most services were on schedule. He conceded, however, that there were "some disruptions" in other departments. He would not elaborate.

All four Daly City libraries would be closed for the duration of the current municipal employees strike.

It was the first city service to feel the effects of the strike. Although other services are functioning using supervisory personnel, a backlog is being experienced, according to Frank.

Frank Gillis, business representative of the local, vowed to keep the employees off the job until the city council scraps a pay hike and fringe benefit resolution passed last week.

During a joint meeting of the city council, city staff and union representatives Monday, Mayor Berard (Bud) Lycett refused to budge from the council's stand on a 2½ per cent increase for employees working 37½ hours and 5 per cent for those working 40 hours. Less than 48 hours after the talks broke down, the employees set up picket lines around the civic center.

Few persons crossed the informational line.

One of those refusing to cross the picket line was Daly City Councilman Edward Dennis, longtime president of the Milk Drivers and Dairymen's Association.

"I don't agree with what they are doing... I think we (the city council) have been fair with our employees, but I have no intention of crossing that picket line," Dennis said.

The strike — first in San Mateo County history and only the fourth in the state — was termed "regrettable" by city manager Edward Frank.

Frank is the main target of striking employees, who blame him for making recommendations to the council on salaries and fringe benefits which brought about the present situation.

The veteran city manager denies the allegations and said Daly City "has substantially paid salaries and fringe benefits to its employees comparable or higher (than) other jurisdictions."

He said the work stoppage was "a concern to all" and countered the union's charges by insisting the discussions between the union and city ended because Gillis submitted "a whole new list of salary demands" and the council had already set the budget and tax rate for the coming year.

Meanwhile, county supervisor James Fitzgerald disclosed to-day he had offered his services in mediating the talks to Mayor Lycett at least twice.

No Meeting

Neither side in the strike — Local representative Frank Gillis or the city officials — have attempted to contact each other for possible negotiations in the current wage and fringe benefit dispute.

Several city services have thus far been completely shut down and others have been slowly down by the walkout of about 100 city employees.

Gillis vowed to keep the workers out until the council "stops its regressive action."

He was referring to the pay resolution passed last week which gave employees working 37½ hours a 2½ per cent raise and those working 40 hours a 5 per cent hike.

Meanwhile, Albert Jenkins, chairman of the Community Action Council, has pulled 28 needy youths off the job at City Hall and put them to work under Rev. Howard Bryant at the Information and Referral Center taking medical surveys in certain target areas.

Jenkins said he decided to keep the youths away from the Civic Center area "because I feel it would put both the city and the poverty program in a bad light if they (the youths) crossed a picket line while the regular employees are out."

The program is funded by the County and is aimed at offering needy youths on-the-job training while earning salary. They had been assisting regular employees in most Daly City departments until Jenkins' decision.

Arthur Silen, in charge of Special Projects for the Economic Opportunity Council, last week said he would "have the kids pulling weeds before I would let them cross a picket line."

Strike Halts

Albert Polonsky, city attorney for Daly City, emerged from a two-hour long closed session with the City Council Saturday and refused to say whether he would seek an immediate injunction against striking municipal employees.

His only comment: "I can assure you I will not file an injunction (against members of Local 919, AFSCME) before noon Monday."

Only one councilman, Anthony Giammona was absent from the special meeting reportedly held to discuss litigation involving the city.

Councilman Edward Dennis, longtime president of the Milk Drivers and Dairymen's Association, had earlier vowed not to attend the meeting if the Civic Center was being picketed or to hold any meetings behind a picket line.

Twenty minutes before the meeting began the pickets disappeared and remained away from the area during the entire meeting. However other city areas, including the libraries, were picketed Saturday.

Sunday, the city's extensive recreational program was shut down along with the libraries. Although librarians were on the job, the limited staff was not sufficient to maintain the facilities, according to the city.

How long the strike will last, no one would say. Union boss Frank Gillis said his local would stay out for as long as it takes to get the council to change its mind on the recent pay and fringe benefit resolution passed last week.

But neither side had, as of this morning, attempted to contact the other side to discuss the matter, according to Polonsky.

One City Hall official noted that the so-called "five-day mark" had come and gone Sunday. According to the City Rules and Regulations involving most of the striking employees, City Manager Edward Frank can legally begin proceedings to dismiss any employees after they are off the job for a period of five days without authorization.

Polonsky said "there is no talk of this at this time... no

World War I Widows Form D.C. Group

Plans are underway for the organization of a Daly City Chapter of Widows of World War I, Inc., officials of the group's California State Division announced this week.

The group is dedicated to veterans hospital assistance, community service and "friendship and fellowship," according to Hazel Roan of Oakland, state membership chairman.

It is "non-profit, non-sectarian and non-political" organization, she said, and annual dues are nominal.

World War I veterans' widows who have remarried are eligible for membership, she said, as are the widows of veterans who served with the United States' allies during the war.

Prospective members are invited to attend meetings of the group's San Francisco Chapter 13 at 3550 Geary Boulevard. The meetings are held the third Sunday of each month, beginning at 2 p.m.

Air Freight Firm in New SSF Offices

Emery Air Freight Corp. recently moved from its location at San Francisco International Airport to its new 30,000-square-foot cargo complex at 501 South Airport Boulevard, South San Francisco. The new $1 million freight handling facility will feature Emery's highly sophisticated computer system and the latest in cargo handling equipment and reflects Emery's growth and indirectly indicates the increasing importance of air freight to industry and commerce.

Starting as an air freight forwarder in 1946, Emery has remained just that. The company has not diversified, yet its expansion is one of the most dramatic in recent years of American business. From a $30,000 a year gross in its first year to approximately $70 million today, it has projected growth in the 1970s in the hundreds of millions. Emery is by far the largest air freight forwarder in the world and its volume represents about 12 per cent of all air cargo sales in the U.S. As a customer of the airlines, Emery is second only to the U.S. government itself.

James A. Hawker is Emery's local manager and the firm employs 70 full-time employees here with an annual payroll of $800,000. The company's executive offices are in Wilton, Conn.

A San Bruno Man Is Wed in Kansas

Mrs. Robert B. Solomon of San Bruno and her son and daughter, Beth and Harvey Solomon, traveled to Hill City, Kan., for Saturday's wedding of her son, Arthur J. Solomon, and Ann Kobler at the Hill City Methodist Church.

The Rev. Jack Harris read the vows before an altar banked with white pompon chrysanthemums and azalea pink carnations. The same pink and white theme in chrysanthemums and carnations was carried out at the reception which followed at the Hill City Elks' Lodge.

Ann, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto F. Kobler of Hill City, was given in marriage by her father. She wore an Empire gown of ivory organza over taffeta with Chantilly lace appliques on the elbow-length sleeves and bodice. The A-line skirt and train were draped with the same lace, and she carried a bouquet of pink and white roses.

For traveling to Las Vegas and Los Angeles honeymoon destinations, the new matron changed into a pale pink linen jacket dress with navy blue and white accessories.

Mrs. Kobler received guests in a coat and dress ensemble of coral silk surah with a corsage of carnations. Mrs. Solomon chose a coat and dress of robin's egg blue alaskine.

Harvey Solomon stood with his brother as best man. Both also are the sons of the late Dr. Robert B. Solomon. Escorting guests to their seats were Jerry Kobler, brother of the bride, Randy Rathman and Conrad S. Solomon, uncle of the bridegroom.

Debbie Hardman served her cousin as maid of honor, and Ann's sister-in-law, Mrs. Jerry Kobler, was the matron of honor. Beth Solomon, sister of the benedict, and Marilyn Cavin were the bridesmaids. They all wore samaron rose, sleeveless gowns with matching jackets with kabuki sleeves. Nosegays of pink roses and purple statice were their bouquets.

The couple will make their first home in Pacifica. Ann is an education alumna of the University of Kansas and has been employed as a stewardess. She will begin teaching in the fall. Her husband is a graduate of the University of California and now is a graduate student in psychology at San Francisco State College.

Sharing Luncheon Menu

Good morning, good cooks.

I attended a luncheon recently and everything was so good that I want to share the menu and recipes with you good cooks.

MENU

Blue Cheese Mushrooms
Baked Asparagus Cheese Sandwich
Molded Waldorf Salad

East Time Dessert Coffee and Tea

These mushrooms are just the most delicious things ever. The problem is in keeping from eating too many. And they are really very easy to prepare.
14 cups crumbled Blue Cheese
5 tbs. fine bread crumbs
Salt and pepper

Remove the stems from the 14 mushrooms and chop the stems. In a small skillet melt the one-fourth cup butter, add the mushroom pieces and the one-fourth cup scallions. Cook until tender, but not brown. Stir in the one-fourth cup crumbled Blue Cheese and the two tablespoons of the fine bread crumbs saving the rest for topping. Salt and pepper to taste. Fill the caps with the mixture and sprinkle with the remaining three tablespoons bread. Bake in 350-degree oven for 10 minutes.

These baked sandwiches make a delicious and attractive luncheon dish and would be nice for a Sunday night supper.

BAKED ASPARAGUS CHEESE SANDWICHES

1 pkg. frozen Asparagus (8 oz.), thawed
12 slices bread
12 slices Swiss cheese
4 eggs
2 1/2 cups milk
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1/2 cup shredded cheddar cheese

Cut the asparagus spears in half lengthwise; trim crusts from the 12 slices of bread. Arrange six slices of bread on bottom of baking dish (13x9x2-inches); cover with the slice of Swiss cheese; top each with two asparagus spear halves. (If you use fresh asparagus, it should be blanched a few minutes in boiling water.)

Repeat layers dividing the remaining asparagus between the six sandwiches. In a bowl beat the four eggs until light, add the two and one-half cups milk, one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg, one and one-half cups milk, one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg, one and one-half teaspoons salt, one eighth teaspoon pepper, one tablespoon chopped onion, blending thoroughly. Pour over the sandwiches; bake 25 minutes in 350-degree oven.

Sprinkle the one-half cup cheddar cheese over top and continue baking 10 to 15 minutes or until it is set and the top is golden brown. Allow to stand 10 minutes, cut into six squares.

MOLDED WALDORF SALAD

1 pkg. lemon gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 cup cold evaporated milk
1/2 cup chopped celery
1 cup chopped red apple, unpeeled
1/4 cup chopped nuts

Combine the one package lemon gelatin with the one cup boiling water, cool slightly. Stir in the one-half teaspoon salt, one-fourth cup lemon juice and one cup cold evaporated milk. Place in refrigerator to chill, when it is thickened fold in the one-half cup chopped celery, one cup chopped apple and one-fourth cup chopped nuts.

Pour into individual molds. Unmold onto lettuce greens and serve with a mayonnaise and fruit juice dressing.

THESE HOLIDAY SQUARES were winners in a Pillsbury Bake-Off and once you taste them you will know why. The mixing and fixing is an easy matter too.

EASY-TIME HOLIDAY SQUARES

1 1/2 cups sugar
1 cup butter
4 eggs
2 cups flour
1 tablespoon lemon extract or juice
1 can cherry pie filling
Confectioners' sugar
Heat oven to 350-degrees.

Gradually add the one and one-half cups sugar to the one cup of butter in a large mixing bowl. (Cream the butter and add the sugar 1/4 cup at a time, creaming at medium speed of mixer until light and fluffy.) At medium speed add the four eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. At low speed add the two cups of sifted flour and the tablespoon lemon extract or lemon juice. (I used extract once and juice the next time and they are equally delicious.)

Pour batter into well-greased 15x10x1-inch jelly roll pan. Mark off into 20 squares. Place one heaping tablespoon cherry pie filling in center of each square.

Bake in 350-degree oven 45 to 50 minutes. (Be sure to check at around 40 minutes, I have an eager-beaver oven and mine was finished early). While warm, sift confectioners' sugar over cake. Cool; cut into squares.

I SEEM TO HAVE a little space left so I'll include a very elegant salad. I was first served this salad at a restaurant in San Francisco and my friend Ceil recreated in her home and sent me the recipe.

You can find canned hearts of palm in the gourmet section of the market. If the sections are large you can split them in half to serve them. Allow three pieces for each individual salad.

HEARTS OF PALM SALAD

3 pieces hearts of palm
Garnish with a slice of black olive, then strips of pimento and a bit of parsley. Serve on butter lettuce with oil and vinegar dressing.

Care Facility Opens in D.C.

A new convalescent hospital opens this week in Daly City. It is the St. Francis Heights Convalescent Hospital at 35 Escuela Drive, near Mary's Help Hospital.

A public showing took place Saturday.

The facility has 102 beds and cost approximately $1 million to build. Irving Caster Associates, did the design work, with actual construction by Roberts-Pacific Construction Company of San Mateo.

The hospital occupies 1 1/2 acres of land and the interior area consists of 27,000 square feet. It is operated by John A. and Marion S. Gellmann, who are Fellows in the American College of Nursing Home Administrators, along with Richard B. Ebert who is also the assistant administrator of the Brookside Convalescent Hospital, owned and operated by the Gellmanns in San Mateo. The Gellmanns have owned and operated convalescent hospitals since 1948.

8833, or by writing 625 Brotherhood Way, San Francisco, California 94132.

The new facility is designed to meet the normal needs of most convalescent patients, regardless of age, who do not need the more intensive care of a general hospital.

It is especially oriented through the nursing services plus physical therapy to help the chronically ill, convalescent and long-term patient.

Planned recreation will be under the supervision of an Activities Director and religious services will be conducted by members of the Clergy in the area.

Professional nursing care will be provided 24 hours a day under the direction of Mrs. Joann Duckworth, R.N. A unique feature of the facility is a centrally located Nurses station which is in instant vocal contact with every room. From this control center, the registered nurse can observe the entrances, lobby, patios, and monitor the activities in both patient wings.

Minister Tells Sunday Service

"Christ's secret weapon for conquering the world" will be the Rev. Walter Stram's message Sunday morning at Peninsula Church of Christ in San Bruno.

The service begins at 11 a.m.

Study groups of all ages meet at the church Sunday at 9:45 a.m. and 6:30 p.m., and on Thursdays at 7:30 p.m.

More Students Enrolled At Crestmoor High School New Program For Church Youth Set

A new youth program, FIND (Focusing Into New Discoveries), will be operated this year on a pilot basis at St. Veronica's Parish, church officials announced.

FIND groups will attempt to answer the questions "What does my religion teach me?" and "How can I apply this to my life today?" according to Mrs. Raymond Donohue.

Beginning in October, the groups will meet twice each month in the home of an advisor, Mrs. Donohue said.

FIND is open to all high schools juniors and seniors in the Parish, she said.

Youths interested in participating should sign up through the Teen Club and CCD.

Father Angelo DeManti will moderate the program, and advisors will include Bruce Baricovich, Ray Bly, Tom Carrigan, Larry Dito, Ray Donohue, Tom Dowling, Fred Glesener, John Harness, Matt Rowan and Mike Ruane.

Kristovich declared that new San Bruno residents with high school age children (9th grades through 12th grades) should register their children. The school will be open for registration purposes from 8:30 a.m. to 12:10 p.m., under the direction of George Robinson, Counseling Department.

The more than 350 incoming freshman students will be the guests of the Crestmoor Student Association at a special Orientation Rally, Wednesday, August 28, from 9:30 a.m. to noon. Robinson, the Student Government Advisor, and Miss Jennifer Paul, Student Association President, are in charge of this special activity for this year's orientation program.

Crestmoor's administrative wing has been going through a series of remodeling changes to make available spaces for three new counseling offices and more efficient office locations and service operations for students and faculty needs.

THE STEPHEN RENTMEESTERS
(Kathy Kramer)

St. Dunstan's Catholic Church in Millbrae was the setting for the recent marriage of Kathy Elizabeth Kramer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Kramer of Millbrae, and Stephen Jon Rentmeester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rentmeester of Pacifica. The Rev. Donald Pyne officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Escorted to the altar by her father, Kathy exchanged her vows in a floor length ivory satin gown fashioned along A-line with appliques of Alencon lace on the bodice and elbow-length sleeves. A caplet of seed pearls and Dior roses secured her cathedral veil, and she carried a bouquet of cymbidium orchids, stephanotis and white roses.

Sandra Kramer and Karen Forman served their sister as honor attendants in moss green silk-weave, floor-length, A-line dresses with back train panels. The bridesmaids Sandra, Richmond and Leslie Robertson, and junior bridesmaid, Julie Forman, wore identical dresses with matching green headpieces of ior roses. They carried yellow spider chrysanthemums bound with green velvet ribbons.

Gary Muhs served as best man for Stephen, and guests were seated by Walton Dickoff, Robert Martin and Dennis Madrugra.

After the ceremony the couple received guests at a reception in the Terrace Room of the Lazy V Restaurant in San Bruno.

Upon their return from a honeymoon in Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, the newlyweds will live in Millbrae.

Poverty Program Puts New 'Info Center' in SSF

The Information Center, 209 Miller Avenue, South San Francisco, opened recently to provide information regarding social, medical and legal aid available to residents in the area.

The Center also will be the location for employment applications, according to Director Deanna Managello. In addition information about college programs, especially at the College of San Mateo, also will be available.

The Center is sponsored by the Human Resources Commission, an agency of the Federal Poverty Program. It has been funded for only a six-week trial period due to limited finance, so Miss Managello is seeking donations of materials and equipment.

"If the Center is successful we can be funded for the entire year," Miss Managello stated. "We think such a Center is needed by the citizens in the South San Francisco area," she continued. "We are willing to try our very best to fulfill that need."

Those wishing to help may contact Miss Managello at the Center.

Rose Hashonah, the first of the High Holy Days, begins on Sunday, September 22 this year.

Congregational president Robert H. Miller, Sisterhood president Mrs. Anthony Bressman, and Brotherhood president Fred Angress announce that news regarding social and cultural events open to the public will be made soon.

'Need Calm Revitalization'

A PEACEFUL REVITALIZATION of American society, brought about by concerned young adults, may be the answer to this country's problems, according to Kathy Knowlton who graduated with honors from Westmoor in June.

A prospective teacher, Kathy was twice named to Westmoor's "Hall of Fame," once for being the Outstanding Senior in the Social Sciences Department and once for being the Outstanding Senior Service Award winner.

She received the Association for Childhood Education Scholarship, a University of San Francisco Scholarship, a life membership in the California Scholarship Federation and the San Mateo Times and Post named her the most valuable staffer for her work on the school newspaper, Ramparts.

Kathy is almost a native of Daly City. She moved here from San Francisco when she was six months old and she grew up to attend Westlake Elementary school and Benjamin Franklin Junior High school. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Knowlton and the sister of Frank, Jr. who is 19, one year her senior.

While in Westmoor Kathy took part in a wide variety of activities but her principal interest was social science.

"Social science courses were always of great interest because of their relative and undefined nature. Studies in government, current events and history, unlike math and English, encouraged not only awareness but verbal and active participation on the part of the students," Kathy explained.

Her affinity for social science won for her the opportunity to represent Westmoor in the Bank of America Liberal Arts competition where she was awarded a third place scholarship in the Peninsula competition.

Westmoor selected her as the C.A.S.C. representative during her senior year and in 1967 she won the debate championship in the Forensics Tournament of the Bay Area. The Daly City Chamber of Commerce honored her as one of four outstanding seniors. In addition, her classmates elected her to the Student Body Executive board and she was named the co-editor of Rampage.

SHE WAS THE 1968 chairman of the school project aimed at raising $500 for the San Mateo County Rehabilitation and Research Center for the Handicapped, and she served as Student Body Treasurer for the fall and spring semesters of her senior year.

Within a few days Kathy will be registering for her first semester at the University of San Francisco where she will major in sociology and work toward a teaching credential. Hopefully she will then teach elementary school or work with the handicapped. She has worked in an insurance office this summer and she plans to continue on the job, part time, through the academic year.

Kathy notes that many problems in the United States seem to emanate from the rapid evolution of values.

"While on one hand young adults have a responsibility to themselves in maintaining their precious 'individuality,' they too, have a responsibility to their parents of understanding and discussion, rather than condemning. Yet, if any solution to this gap is to be found, it must be made by the efforts of both sides," she pointed out.

"I admire the courage of those who seek to eliminate the prejudices and violence of our society, not only as it is found in the reality of the war in Vietnam, but in the media of radio and TV.

"The hippie philosophy of peace and its rejection of the superficial values is also to be admired. But the draft card burners and the rioters — those who move out of our society — will only destroy the ideals of the democracy which they feel they are preserving.

"IT IS ONLY THROUGH THE KENNEDYS and the McCarthy's — and hard working young adults — who give everything to chance the ill from within the scope of the law — that peace will be established.

"The role of today's graduate within the community lies not only in abiding its laws, but in taking an active interest in its problems and projects. No matter what role — whether it be civil service or housewife, I, as well as the other 500 graduates in the class of '68 must do my best. Only then can the community profit or benefit from the product of its education and community services," Kathy summarized.

North County Couple Wed

White gladioli and stock decorated the altar of St. Martin's Catholic Church for yesterday's wedding of Diana Gayle Bryan and William Earl Blum.

The double-ring ceremony, conducted by the Rev. George Hollywood, was followed by a reception at International Joe's Restaurant in Westlake. They will honeymoon in Palm Springs and make their home in Daly City.

Diana is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Clyde Bryan Jr. of San Bruno and was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white organza over taffeta, A-line gown trimmed with tulle lace with a sabrina neckline and puff sleeves. Her chapel train attached at the bodice of her gown, and fabric roses and seed pearls secured her three-tier silk illusion veil. She carried phalaenopsis orchids and streamers.

Linda Mary Bryan, her sister's honor attendant, set the style for the secondary attendants in a lime green crepe gown with a sleeveless, Empire bodice. The bridesmaids included Mrs. James C. Bryan III, Diana's sister-in-law, Leslie Ann Ryan, her cousin, and Dian Lyn Blum, sister of the bride in an aqua alaskine coat and dress ensemble with shoes and bag to match. Mrs. Blum chose a dress of beige alaskine with pearl trim and matching shoes. Both pinned on orchid corsages.

The new matron changed into a beige dress with dark brown and patent leather accessories and an orchid corsage. She is a graduate of Crestmoor High School and the granddaughter of Mrs. Harry L. Sutherland of Santa Rosa and the late Mr. Sutherland and Mrs. Floyd G. Grice of Pensacola, Fla., and the late James C. Bryan Sr.

Her husband is an alumna of Westmoor High School and now is a student at the University of San Francisco.

Russell H. Cohen fulfilled the duties of best man for William, the son of the Hon. Frank B. Blum and Mrs. Blum of Daly City. Guests were seated by James C. Bryan III, brother of the bride, Frank B. Blum Jr., brother of the benedict, and Paul E. Carrara.

Mrs. Bryan received guests benedict. Their headpieces were colorful bands of artificial flowers, and they carried yellow roses.

Dale A. Donalon Becomes Bride of Patrick J. O'Brien

A home in San Francisco awaits Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. O'Brien (Dale Anne Donalon) who are honeymooning in Hawaii. They were married Saturday evening at the Church of the Good Shepherd in Belmont.

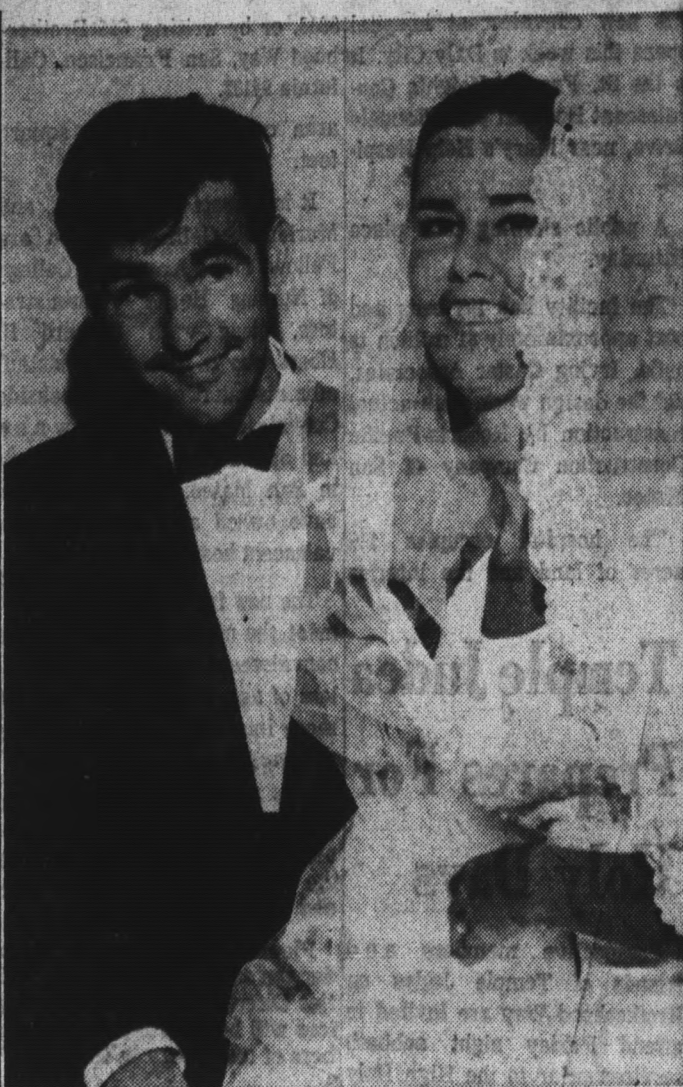

Dale, the daughter of Martin J. Donalon of San Bruno, recited her vows in a white satin gown with embroidered lace and seed pearls on the bodice, skirt and train. A cluster of phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis secured her floor-length veil which was edged in lace. She carried phalaenopsis, baby roses, miniature pink carnations and gypsophelia in her bouquet.

A knit dress and jacket of white, beige and navy blue was her traveling ensemble which she accented with beige shoes and bag. She also wore a phalaenopsis orchid in her hair.

Carole Bartle of Havertown, Pa., was the sole attendant for Dale in an A-line gown of rose peau de soie. Carnations and escort roses made up her bouquet, and the same flowers caught her short veil.

Charles Cadigan of Redwood City served as best man for Patrick, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James O'Brien of San Rafael. James Greely and Michael O'Brien, brother of the benedict, seated the guests, and Lamont Lee of Burlingame carried the rings.

The couple received guests

Lift the Pickets

PICKET SIDELIGHTS — Daly City councilman Edward J. Dennis refused to cross the picket lines or hold any talks behind the lines during the strike of city workers. . . soooo . . . they apparently lifted the line last Saturday to let him attend a closed session inside the Civic Center. Dennis (as many folks know) is president of the Milk Drivers and Dairymen's Association and has sat on the other side of that negotiating table on many an occasion.

Rumors are out that some high-ranking city officials are starting to shine up their axes for the "lopping" ceremonies if and when they get the chance. They're bitter about the strike. But Union boss Frank Gillis says he'll be on the lookout for any such action once the employees go back to work.

CONFIDENTIAL TO YKW — Police set up a full-scale recording system at Daly City Civic Center Wednesday morning (August 21) complete with video tapes and camera. It was taken down Thursday and the police patrol watching pickets was thinned . . . on orders of Chief Petrocchi, Our Source claims.

SICK CALL — Police Lt. Charles (Bud) Terry having his back stretched at Kaiser Hospital. Terry suffered a painful injury while vacationing with his family at Yosemite last week. . . Mrs. Howard Bryant, wife of Reverend Bryant of the Second Baptist Church, in hospital for major surgery.

HEY UNCLE JOE — Not only have several locals vowed to carry out that threat to lie down on the runway at San Francisco International, they are now proposing Daly City start taxing funeral processions en route to Colma. (Yes, Nancy, there are some nuts left in the world.)

AND SPEAKING OF THAT TAX Larry Bertolucci (of South City restaurant fame) thinking about opening a bag lunch stand alongside the Bayshore Freeway. I'll never work, folks. Who wants a ravioli sandwich?

THEY'RE TRYING to line up a City Manager for Brisbane. Acting manager Bruce Altman doesn't want the post and the council can't seem to make up its mind between three candidates. They're having the same problem on a police chief also. . . Speaking of the law: Sheriff Whitmore is expected to withdraw his landing forces from that tiny community any day now. Former city manager Lanier Brady is now advising in Benicia.

D. C. FIRE CHIEF HERB RITZMAN is given this week's "Positive Statement" award, earned during a talk with a Bay Area newsman regarding the recent slide on Eastmoor Avenue.

If you can believe what you read (steady folks) chief Ritzman said the cave-in might have been caused by the local "sandy soil situation."

The fact that a few tons of this "sandy soil" rolled down the hill caused the "situation" if you ask us . . . and nobody has.

HERE COMES A MOTORIST southbound on the Junipero Serra Freeway at 65 miles per hour. As he is negotiating a rather interesting left curve, drops over a dip in the smooth roadway, and sees a tunnel looming before him, up pops a road sign that proclaims "Westlake Dist. Daly City" turnoff to the right. This informative sign is strategically installed directly above the turnoff. The fast-thinking driver cuts sharply to the right to make the off-ramp (partially hidden on clear days by the clutter of pillars, posts and down slope and completely obliterated on foggy days) hits the brakes and gracefully flips over. After the emergency crews extract his remains from the demolished vehicle a knowing observer comments "Damn fool driver."

If the unfortunate driver did indeed earn that title, then he should be honored right along with the engineer who laid out that off-ramp.

The "killer ramp" was hit in this column last year because of the lack of signs or warning devices in the area. The State Highway Department rushed out and installed several small reflectors.

BBB Answers All

QUESTION: What kind of a guarantee will I receive when buying new furniture?

ANSWER: Unlike appliances, furniture does not normally carry a manufacturer's warranty or guarantee. A reputable dealer will stand behind his merchandise and will provide any service necessary on defective furniture.

QUESTION: The Better Business Bureau suggests that I should shop around and get competitive prices before buying. Does Better Business Bureau suspect business?

ANSWER: No, the Better Business Bureau does not suspect business. Unless a person shops around he cannot be sure that the price he pays is competitive. Any reputable firm will be glad to have the consumer compare what it is selling with a competitor. Be wary of the high pressure firm who tries to stop you from shopping elsewhere and rushes your signature on the contract.

QUESTION: I have called the Better Business Bureau several times with complaints and have always been told that I should see an attorney. What does the Better Business Bureau do anyway?

ANSWER: The Better Business Bureau

will help you whenever it can. Evidently when you called you already had had legal entanglements which the Bureau is not qualified to handle. If you would have asked about the companies you were complaining about before you did business with them, the chances are that you would not have had complaints.

QUESTION: Is the Better Business Bureau interested when a retailer does not have what he represents either in advertising or store windows?

ANSWER: Yes. The Better Business Bureau would appreciate receiving a written report of your experience. In this way, after the Bureau checks it out with the retailer similar incidents can be prevented in the future.

QUESTION: I am taking a course in a private trade school which advertises "free placement service" when I graduate. Does this mean that I will be assured of a job upon the completion of the course?

ANSWER: No. "Free placement service" does not guarantee a job. Nearly all private trade schools make a sincere effort to find jobs for their graduates but not all graduates can be placed.

A Voter's View

The Constitution of the United States reads, "The executive power shall be vested in a President of the United States."

When the idea of a single executive was first broached at Philadelphia by James Wilson of Pennsylvania, it was greeted with an embarrassed pause. Then Edmund Randolph, who had chosen to support the American Revolution over the objections of his own father, rose to say that the temper of Americans was "adverse to the very semblance of monarchy; a single executive figure would be 'the foetus of monarchy.'"

His fellow delegate to the Constitutional Convention, George Mason, warned that the President "would be directed by minions and favorites or he would become a tool of the Congress."

In New York George Clinton, who lived to become Vice President, observed "that any man who became President of the United States would possess the power to ruin his country."

As the 1968 election campaign blows across the country, some of the dangers these men foresaw are still attached to the presidency, and to them have been added many — the endless crises, domestic and foreign, the criticism, the frustration, the danger of assassination — for examples.

"There is no exaltation in the office of the President of the United States," Harry Truman wrote. "Sorrow is the proper word."

"I have had enough of it," William McKinley said, "Heaven knows! I have had all the honor there is in this place, and have had responsibilities enough to kill any man." Yet in less than a year he was seeking re-election.

Why? Why do men want to be President? Why do they plead, bargain, and bludgeon their way to a presidential nomination? A partial answer may be found in The American Heritage History of The Presidency by Marcus Cunliffe and the Editors of the American Heritage Magazine.

"... it is natural that men of ability and ambition should strive to attain the highest office that the nation can bestow. An American seeking the presidency must also be confident that he is the best man for the job, that he is most capable of coping wisely with the plethora of problems facing the United States. The opportunity to guide a great nation, to secure or retain peace and prosperity, to fulfill the American Dream — and by so doing earn an indelible place in history beside Washington, Lincoln, Franklin D. Roosevelt and other presidential giants

One of the most intriguing parts of the American Heritage book is a chapter called "The Presidential Image." Starting with Thomas Jefferson's dictum, "When a man assumes a public trust he should consider himself as public property," it shows through pictures and comments, the men who have been President as they appeared in public and sometimes as they appeared in private.

It comments on the role of the first lady and the children of the President. It shows the individuality of the men. Lyndon Johnson is pictured astride his horse in pursuit of a steer on his ranch. Calvin Coolidge is shown working out in the Capitol gym although still dressed in a collar and tie. Theodore Roosevelt appears shooting a bear. Finally, it quotes Herbert Hoover in saying that Presidents like to fish because it is the silent sport.

The American Heritage Book of The Presidency will give voters a view of the President's job before they pick the next man to hold the office.

Exercise in Futility

It has become standard operating procedure in the labyrinths of government to attempt to untangle confusion caused by bureaucracy by establishing new bureaus or commissions.

The commission to end all such commissions is the Administrative Conference of the United States.

This commission was established eight months ago to discover ways of "humanizing" Washington bureaucracy. In short, it is charged with untangling some of the red tape which snarls so many contacts by the average citizen with his government.

Sustained by a $250,000 annual budget, headed by a Texan appointed by the President and given quarters within sight of the White House, the commission would appear to have the highest cooperation of government agencies at its command.

Yet in eight months of operation, the commission has not made a single recommendation.

Chairman Jerre S. Williams, a former University of Texas Law School professor, says it may be December before any recommendations are forthcoming. "or maybe in early spring, say April."

One of the problems, according to Williams, is that government procedures have become so complicated it takes months of study by experts to understand them well enough to make recommended changes.

Which seems to confirm the charge the average citizen has little chance of understanding the procedural complex, let alone complying with it.

"Many people are frustrated and thwarted by government procedures," Williams admits. "An indirect offshoot of our work will be to make it easier for the average man to get through these procedures."

The conference consists of 82 members, a 10-member council to head the operation, and an eight-man professional staff, and subcontracts much of its work to outside investigators. But with all this investigative labor, the conference finds it difficult to understand what the federal government is doing.

Melodrama of Sexual Fantasies

French director Luis Bunuel takes us into a fanciful world of sexual and psychological aberration in "Belle De Jour" which has opened at the Presidio Theatre. It is both gripping and frustrating as it probes the double life of a beautiful, wealthy, educated and cultured woman who is the symbol of chastity and decorum to her husband and friends, but works in a brothel during the day.

The sordid story is never clouded with tasteless extravagances of eroticism, even while the woman's daydreams show her being defiled with mud, and verbal accusations, beatings and violence. Like a suspense story that gets more and more involved as it unfolds, Bunuel's film weaves in and out of the dark labyrinths of a tortured mind, seeking self-knowledge (I doubt if sexual satisfaction is a factor) as she puts herself through a cathartic experience of self-debasement in order to rid herself of repressions and fears.

The enigmas are many. One is never sure where the daydreams begin or end. There is no logical explanation for the final scene, nor are such mysteries as what's in the little box shown her by a Chinese customer. In a recent interview in the New York Times, Catherine Deneuve, who plays the troubled wife, claims that these questions were never answered by the director. He never let her in on the secrets either, so that her dispassionate attitude toward the perversities she endures come from innocence of the character's motivation. What one imagines is happening is half the film's excitement, although Bunuel doesn't spare us the grotesque and bizarre touches that one would expect of brothel activities.

MISS DENEUE, LIKE A SLEEP-WALKER, remains cool and regal in her most disheveled state. Her aloofness to Jean Sorel, her doctor husband, is not fully explained, since he is both handsome and kind. But it has to do with a fear of her husband's possibly discovering her carnal cravings, or her yearning for violent and impersonal love-making which he'd criticize as abnormal.

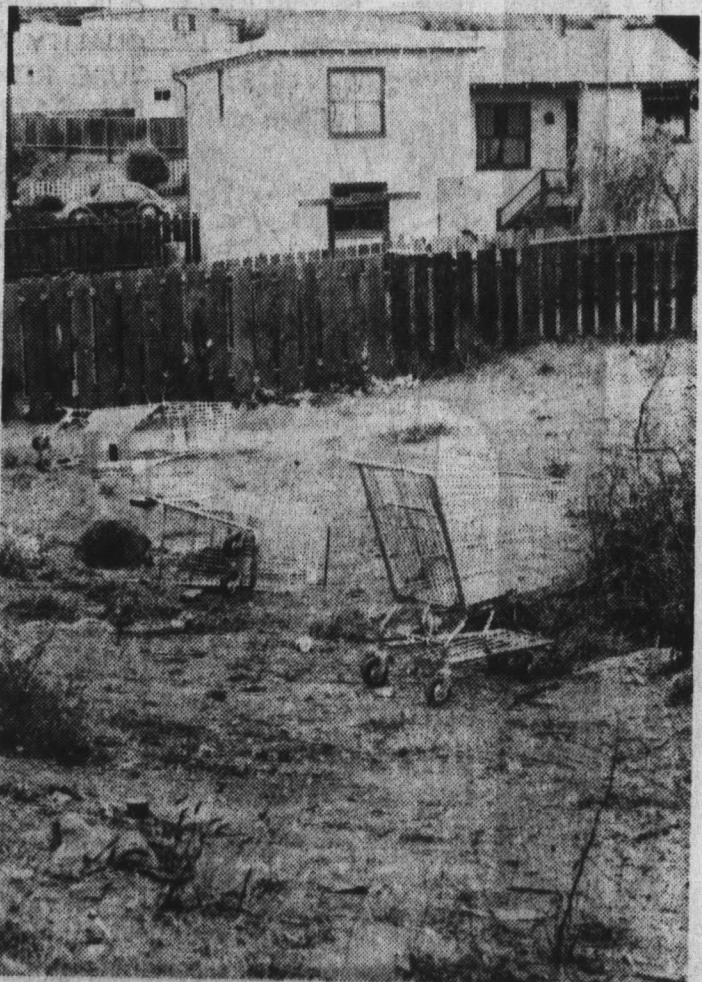

Calling herself Beauty of the Day, working only the hours of 2 to 5 p.m., she subdues her anxieties, fulfills herself as a mature woman and through the escapade, professes a sincere love for her husband and the wish to be a good wife.

In rather grand Guignol fashion, Pierre Clementi, as a whip-wielding, stiletto-carrying hoodlum who becomes possessively enamored of her, ambushes the husband and shoots him down in the street while he in turn, is riddled by a policeman's bullets.

It's faults are melodramatic and minor, it's finesse masterful. "Belle de Jour" is a haunting, almost surrealistic film, beautifully and economically directed for precise effect (it is Bunuel's highest budget film yet, however). It shows the star of "Re-pulsion" to be a sensitive actress capable of capturing and fostering the delicate nuances of an artistic storyteller like Bunuel.

Genevieve Page, as the madam, is both business-like and sisterly to her three workers. Michel Piccoli, her husband's friend, who discovers her secret, is the catalyst that induces truth to the chaotic unreality of her incongruous world.

Used Cart Lot?

WAYWARD SHOPPING CARTS are becoming the number one concern of supermarkets in the North County. Costing between $25 and $40 apiece, some markets lose up to a dozen each day. The loss is passed on to the shopper. Most carts find their way back to the markets, however some end up supplying wheels for go-carts for kids or in various shops around the area used for anything from carting lawnseed to welding sets. Next to shoplifters, the shopping cart capers are costing merchants a handsome sum of money. Most people are just too lazy to bring the carts back. They choose to leave them in any empty lot, one merchant explained.

San Bruno Windy?

County supervisors this week gave top priority to acquiring two new regional parks on top of San Bruno Mountain and on the "Maestri" property between Pacifica and Montara when they instructed County Mgr. E. R. Stallings to submit a report on both parks at their September 12 meeting.

The county manager was instructed to estimate the amount of acreage needed for each park, what use each park should be put to and the cost of acquiring each property.

The action was taken after Parks and Recreation Director Ralph H. Shaw submitted a priority list for parks acquisition. The list included the park on San Bruno Mountain, the Maestri property — which is located on the north fork of San Pedro Peak east of the Coast Highway — a marine reserve in the vicinity of Dumbarton Bridge and an area adjacent to Huddard Park northwest of Woodside. Supervisors agreed the last item should have the lowest priority.

A delegation of Pacifica city officials headed by Mayor Nick Gust and City Mgr. C. W. Masonheimer was present to appeal for acquisition of the Coastside park, which would include a canyon adjacent to property recently acquired by the North Coastside Water District and would include Green Valley at the southern end of Devil's Slide.

Gust appealed for the county to join with Pacifica in acquiring the property, which he said contains "one of the finest canyons left in the area."

A preliminary estimate of the cost of the property, Stallings reported, is $660,000.

Both Supervisors Robert St. Clair and T. Louis Chess warned that the San Bruno Mountain Park might not be suitable for an outdoor, regional park because of climatic conditions.

"We should be careful about San Bruno Mountain," Chess said. "The wind blows 90 per cent of the time up there."

St. Clair said he would favor the acquisition of lesser acreage than 1600 acres proposed, to allow the financing of indoor recreational facilities. James V. Fitzgerald, board chairman, pointed out that of the 1,600 acres proposed for the park, only 300 are on level ground.

Stallings recommended the county proceed to acquire both parks this year.

"If we started today it would take a year to put this to bed," Fitzgerald said.

A letter was received from Mayor Bernard Lycett of Daly City urging acquisition of the San Bruno Mountain property from the Crocker Land Company.

During the discussion, Stallings noted that the county has already gone on record as giving top priority to acquiring property along Pescadero Creek from Portola Park to Memorial Park. A dam is scheduled to be built in the area to create a large lake and reservoir.

Supervisors noted they have $740,000 in a land acquisition fund raised from a special 5-cent tax levy, and that matching funds probably can be received from the federal government.

Don Kelly Celebrates A Happy Birthday

ONE OF THE best "nightly doubles" in the Pacifica area is NICK GUST's two entries in the food and entertainment field—THE MOONRAKER and NICK'S RESTAURANT, both located right on the ocean front. Selective breakfast, luncheon and dinner menus are featured at Nick's, plus dancing to the DEL CARLO TRIO, vocals by MARY ANN "Speedy" HAY, and organ renditions by JIM PAYER. Across the street, the nautical, new Moonraker serves gourmet dinners only, with service from 4 p.m.; Sundays, from 2 p.m. DON KELLY, who presides over the organ here, was a surprised birthday celebrant, this week, when Song Writer CHARLOTTE MCCARTHY, who wrote "I Don't Want To Be Hurt Anymore," one of the last LP's of the late Nat "King" Cole, presented Don with a huge cake which was topped with a picture-likeness decoration of the Moonraker. . . .

Food and Beverage Manager CLAUDE SCHROEDER (he oversees the luxurious Lancer Lounge, the Royal Hall dining room and the always-busy coffee shop) is already planning for the inevitable increase in business. Credits to Owners FRED and JERRY RAPP for establishing on the Peninsula one of the most successful Holiday Inns in the country. . . . If you think all spaghetti is the kind with meatballs, you haven't tried GEORGE BOLLAG's superlative Spaghetti Bolognese on the luncheon at LAUBERGE in Atherton. The master chef has the deft touch for the subtle seasoning in this unusual dish. . . . Besides complete Japanese dinners, TOSHIO KUYOHARA's 17th Avenue IRIFUNE restaurant also presents a wide selection of a la carte dishes. Prices range from 70 cents for Yakko (iced soya bear cake) to $2.50 for an order of Chicken Sukiyaki. Both table or counter service.

EXCITING SEPTEMBER 3 opening at A. SABELLA's when THE DENNIS IV take over the CAPRI ROOM bandstand, replacing the orchestra of well-liked JOE MARCELLINO, who is heading for other musical fields. Recently completing a highly successful tour of the country, which included the Nevada circuit, the Dennis IV, headed up by DENNIS LARSON, appeared in the Bay Area only once before—when they headlined at Bimbo's 365. Open seven days a week, this Fisherman's Wharf restaurant which has been offering dinner-dancing nightly, except Sunday, and showcasing the orchestras of popular band masters, will feature dancing in the Capri Room Tuesday through Saturday. . . . CLAUDE MURRAY, BLUE PEACOCK plankman, has a wit as dry as one of his well-mixed martinis. A true veteran on the Peninsula lounge scene, Claude's blending abilities are only overshadowed by his flair for telling amazing stories.

STEPPING ALONG in the style of the late Bill "Bojangles" Robinson, and still great Ray Bolger, ex-vaudevillean FRANCIS BLAIR revives the old soft shoe dance of a gone-by era at FINOCCHIO's on San Francisco's famous Broadway. One of his big hits is the "Second Hand Rose," sung in the manner of the late Fannie Brice. Another is "Rose of Washington Square" . . . New parking spaces are being marked off at VINCE'S ITALIAN AND SEAFOOD restaurant, which means the parking facilities will now accommodate over 70 automobiles. . . . Milk-fed Veal, which CHUCK WINSTEAD, manager of YOLANDA'S TERMINAL CAFE, describes as Cordon Bleu a la Gillo, is one of the two entrees served last Monday night when the restaurant opened for Monday and Tuesday night dining. Italian Ham is the other palate pleaser. Now open for dinner seven days a week, with service from 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday; from 3 p.m. on Sunday. . . . 50 cent "Happy Hours" (3 p.m. to 6 p.m.) is a nightly happening at the Redwood City GOLDEN STEER. This appropriately named restaurant specializes in "Choice" steak dinners for only $2.95.

"Around The World Pancakes"

FOSTER'S ORIGINAL PANCAKE AND CHICKEN HOUSE advertises "Pancakes From Around the World," and countless diners are discovering that the restaurant's menu provides just that. French, German, Swedish, Palestine and Hawaiian are among the "foreign" pancakes offered, plus such "All American" favorites as blueberry, apple, potato and butter-milk.

Fuji Sukiyaki On Vacation

Thursday, September 5, will be the day when the FUJI SUKIYAKI restaurant crew returns from vacation. This is an every-summer retreat for BOB and DOROTHY MASUDA and family.

Volkswagen distributor REYNOLD C. JOHNSON was seen enjoying lunch with DAVE RASMUSSEN (he's also a successful VW dealer in San Mateo) at THE SHADOWS, last week. You can bet their conversation concerned the "radical" changes in the new 69 models!

LOU ERCOLI, the younger edition of the LEANING TOWER's Ercoli brothers, especially recommends their $2.45 Steak Sandwich (includes a salad and coffee) during luncheon, which is served Monday through Friday. For an appetizer, try the 85 cent double Martini.

VINCE FLORES, a long-time Butchertown buddy of TOM ZUCHELLI, and now in the insurance business on the Peninsula, was seen enjoying a steak dinner, last week, at BRUNO'S of San Mateo. He and his party reveled over the culinary delights of CHEF BRUNO FAVA.

Luncheon and dinner patrons of JOE'S OF HILLSDALE, located in the Hillside Shopping Center, are praising the Entrecote of Beef, among other Italian dishes, served every day of the week, except Sunday. Order complete dinners, or a la carte portions.

Sinaloa Show One Of Club's Best

SINALOA'S LOS ROQUETS has to be the only husband-wife team to entertain in such a unique fashion—he on the trumpet and she at the drums. What a show this act would be on television. Add the dance team of GLORIA and MARIO, plus an all-Latin Revue and you have the ingredients for one of the best shows in Sinaloa history.

Park Avenue Tours Are "Naturals"

THE PARK AVENUE TOURS "Fun and Entertainment the Nevada Way" packages offer outstanding transportation values in fares and cash refunds. The termination point for these enjoyable trips is centered around the HOTEL SAHARA-TAHOE, BARNEY'S CASINO and THE NUGGET, (South Shore) Lake Tahoe. If you can't manage more than a few days' vacation, the Park Avenue Tours are "naturals" in more ways than one.

The SKYLARK's Annual Invitational golf tournament is scheduled for the very near future. Playing site: the FAIRWAY GLEN GOLF COURSE. Both men and women are eligible to enter. The $15 entrance fee, which must be paid by September 15, includes green fees, refreshments and a steak dinner. The limit is 60 players.

During the past few months, EMERSON MURFEE'S VILLA CHARTIER has broken all records for wedding parties. That's what comes when you have nine banquet rooms for your party choosing.

The sweet sounds of violinist GEORGE CURRIE provide just the right seasoning for the Continental dinner specialties in the FRENCH CORNER restaurant at the HILTON INN, San Francisco International Airport, every Friday and Saturday evening. For the calorie conscious, there's a wide selection of cool, delicious salads that are as kind to the waistline as they are to the palate. Artist Alberto Fireside Feature ALBERTO, the North Beach artist who created epidermal art, is now displaying his unique painting techniques nightly at San Mateo's FIRESIDE LOUNGE. Instead of using a canvas, Alberto actually paints the nude body of a curvy model. It's the wildest thing since the "Goldfinger" girl.

Although the MILLS SQUARE restaurant (corner of Baldwin and Ellsworth) is very imposing. The very opposite holds true to the food and drink prices. Owner NORRIS PALMER has set modest prices for his restaurant items and V.I.P. LOUNGE relaxes.

The buffalo heads which adorn the exterior and interior of TOMMY'S JOINT in San Francisco are genuine, coming from the buffalo ranch in Gillette, Wyoming, which sends TOMMY HARRIS the buffalo meat that is served in the buffalo stew at Tommy's. It's the only lunch and dinner place in the West serving buffalo stew.

Apartment Plan Studied

South San Francisco planning commissioners will consider a use permit application for a new 35-unit apartment complex on Country Club Drive at tonight's regular commission meeting.

Planner Daniel Pass and other city staff members have recommended approval of the use permit, requested by Richard P. Lyons.

Other matters on tonight's agenda include a request from the First National bank of South San Francisco to locate an appurtenant sign at 211 Airport Boulevard, and a parcel map of Utah Construction and Mining Co. representing the rearrangement of two existing lots in the M-1-H District.

CLOSED SEASON
Rhode Island in 1646 became the first colony in North America to have a closed season on deer.

Bank Moves To Center

Crocker-Citizens National Bank will conduct the first day of regular banking business at its new Serramonte Center office, 135 Serramonte Center in Daly City, Monday. The bank's doors will be open for business, as usual, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

One of 11 Crocker-Citizens' offices serving San Mateo County, the new office is being moved from its previous location in Skyline Plaza, where it was originally opened seven years ago. The bank building, separate from the rest of the center, is situated in the southeast corner of the center, just inside the Serramonte Boulevard entrance.

An open house for this office will be held on Thursday, September 12, from 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m., coinciding with the opening festivities of the entire Serramonte Center.

200 More At Crestmoor

Crestmoor High School's student and faculty enrollment will increase by more than 200 students and six teachers when the fall term 1968 begins Thursday, September 5, George F. Kristovich, principal, announced today. The official first day of school will be a full day for more than 1,550 students and 79 faculty members.

Prior to the first day of school faculty and administration members will report to Crestmoor on Tuesday, September 3, for a series of workshops. They will meet on Wednesday, September 4, at 9 a.m. for the San Mateo Union High School District general faculty meeting at the San Mateo High School Auditorium. Following the meeting, the Crestmoor faculty and administration will be the guests of the Crestmoor P-TA at the annual faculty luncheon in the school cafeteria.

Kristovich declared that new San Bruno residents with high school age children (ninth through twelfth grades) should register their children starting Monday, August 12. The school will be open for registration purposes from 8:30 a.m. to 12:10 p.m.

S. S. F. Honors Patrolman as Policeman of the Month

Patrolman Fred Lagomarsino has been named by the South San Francisco Kiwanis Club as Policeman of the Month for August.

A native of the city, 24-year-old Lagomarsino is concerned about juvenile communication.

He works the graveyard shift where the action is, 11:00 p.m. to 7:00 a.m., and comes in contact with many teenagers.

"Each night we pick up two or three 15 and 16-year-olds for burglaries, drugs, run-aways, you name it," he said.

"It's hard to get to a lot of them. They're on the streets because of a home based problem.

We can only meet with them on the streets — can't live in the home."

The most common reaction from parents of youngsters in trouble is "why."

"They don't believe their son or daughter would do such a thing. They say, 'why? It doesn't make any sense. We must be wrong.'"

"It is the parent's responsibility to know where their son or daughter is," he continued.

"Where they go. What they do."

According to Lagomarsino, the city's 10 p.m. curfew isn't of much help to the force.

"The kids we arrest and take to Hillside (county juvenile facility) are most repeaters. We need more time to work with them, but our budget allows only one juvenile officer."

A 1962 graduate of South San Francisco High School, Officer Lagomarsino served in the Coast Guard, and spends his off-time working with teenagers and pursuing his college education. He is unmarried.

Wonderful things begin to happen when you save systematically at Systematic Savings

Times are good. You're earning more than you used to. But how much of it do you keep? If you feel you're on a treadmill, here's how you can start moving ahead: When you pay your bills, pay yourself first. Send part of each paycheck to Systematic Savings.

And look at the benefits! At current annual rate of 5%, compounded daily to return 5.13% annually, here's how your money grows when you save systematically:

Save per month	$10	$25	$50	$100
You'll have ...
In 5 years	$682	$1,706	$3,412	$6,825
In 10 years	$1,557	$3,894	$7,787	$15,575
In 20 years	$4,117	$10,294	$20,587	$41,175

Interest is paid from date received to date of withdrawal on funds held 3 months or longer if account remains open till quarter's end. Savings received by the 10th earn from the 1st. Your account is insured to $15,000 by a permanent government agency.

Five New Lines for 1969 By American Motors

Five separate lines of new 1969 automobiles embodying hundreds of improvements and refinements designed for maximum consumer satisfaction were announced today by American Motors Corporation.

They include the high-performance record breaking two-seat AMX, the sporty Javelin, the compact Rambler (formerly Rambler American), the rugged, all-around Rebel and the luxury Ambassador.

Ambassador, designed to fill a market gap between the top intermediate and standardized cars, has the most pronounced changes. The Ambassador, with an entirely new and distinctive front end, has a wheelbase of 122 inches, 4 inches greater than last year, and its track has been widened to a full 60 inches, providing much-improved riding comfort and stability, he said.

Across-the-line changes and improvements found in all 1969 AM cars include the addition of head restraints as standard equipment; a smooth cable-controlled accelerator system with a suspended pedal; a new smaller, lighter battery with a translucent polypropylene case; parking lights which remain on with headlamps, and new Guard-Glo safety headlamps, featuring a stand-by filament.

American Motors' newest line, the sporty, two-seat AMX which was introduced in the spring of 1968, will offer all-leather upholstery as an option. An improved four-speed close-ratio transmission and improved tachometers will be standard on the '69 AMX.

Air conditioning, standard on all Ambassadors, has increased capacity and improved air distribution for 1969. AM air conditioning units will be capable of dropping inside temperature on Ambassador and Rebel models considerably faster than units previously used.

Ambassador and Rebel station wagons will offer as standard equipment Dcal-Swing tailgates which can be lowered in the conventional way or swung open from the side, like a door.

With the exception of the Rambler, all 1969 models will offer as optional a new ventilation system called "Command Air." It consists of a high-capacity three-speed blower which forces air through normal air-conditioning outlets.

In addition to the increased comfort which the system affords, "Command Air" also makes it easier for car owners to switch to regular air conditioning later.

Standard safety features on all 1969 American Motors cars

American Motors' popular intermediate car, the Rebel, offers for 1969 a widened stance, numerous engineering improvements and many new styling touches, including a new grille accented by bright horizontal lines. Both the Rebel 2-door hardtop (top) and the Rebel SST 2-door hardtop (above) feature new rear styling, including new wrap-around tail lamp assemblies with integrated backup lights. The Rebel SST series also features stainless steel side trim strips and in the 2-door hardtop model, simulated louvers forward of the rear wheel opening.

For 1969, American Motors offers a wide range of important options which includes individually adjustable reclining seats, power disc brakes on all V-8 models except the Rambler, a 390-cubic inch four-barrel V-8 on AMX, Ambassador SST and Javelin SST models, and close-ratio four-speed transmission on Rambler Rogue, Javelin, Javelin SST and Ambassador SST models. Four-on-the-floor is standard on the AMX.

New Imported Car Mart

Latest entry into the ever-increasing number of imported car dealers in San Mateo is Imported Cars of Hillsdale.

Representing, for Britain, the prestige Rover 3½ Litre Saloon (the compact Rolls-Royce) to be introduced into the American market sometime in 1969, the highly successful Rover 2000 T.C. Sports Sedan and 2000 Automatic and the world-famous Land-Rover Safari vehicles.

In the same showroom, to offer the discriminating automotive buff the best of both worlds is the fantastic Italian line of Fiat cars ranging from the 850 Sedan with a P.O.E. price of $1,- 465 (automatic only $139 more) through the beautiful 850 Sports Coupe and Roadster to the larger 124 Series, which includes a family sedan and station wagon and a quite fabulous sports coupe and roadster which Fiat, with justifiable pride, advertises as the lowest price sports car with twin overhead cam engine on the market today.

Fiat, in a decade of automotive landmarks, must be one of the success stories of the year having, according to Business Week, edged Volkswagen out to become the fourth largest automobile manufacturer in the world and the biggest outside the U.S.

LUXURY-PLUS but with a price range that is medium-minus. The 1969 Dodge Polara 500 two-door hardtop goes on display at dealerships in September. New exteriors, high-styled interiors, which accent driver and passenger comfort, distinguish the Polara-Monaco models.

Monaco, Polara Improved

DETROIT — The "most improved" contenders in the traditional standard and medium priced segments of the automobile market receive brand new starts in 1969.

The Dodge Polara and Monaco get everything changed but the wheel-base for the coming year . . . including the cargo distance between the wheel housings on station wagons.

There is "integrated total form," "moulded air spoilers," a "tuck under" sill, "hidden windshield wipers," "ventless windows," and "Super-Lite" to package Dodge's new concept in medium priced luxury.

"The Dodge Monaco has been making steady progress in the medium priced market and the Polara in the standard priced segment," said R. B. McCurry, Dodge general manager. "They were on the plus side of the sales chart in a declining auto sales market during 1967 and they continued their momentum through the 1968 model to show the greatest improvement of any car in their field."

"For the 1969 model year the Dodge Polara and Monaco have been redone completely. New exteriors, high styled interiors, and new options enhance and improve the position these two cars enjoy in this highly competitive segment of the automobile market.

New Styling

The new Dodge Polara and Monaco feature aerodynamic styling themes accentuating the exterior form and driver oriented cockpit interior treatment.

The dash on both the Polara and Monaco is completely driver oriented with all controls mounted on a panel directly in front of the driver and protected from impact by extended dash padding. The ignition key has been moved to the lower left of the dash to remove it from the area of impact by an unrestrained center front seat passenger.

The exterior styling concept of the basic car is completely aerodynamic with a family hint of the highly successful Dodge Charger.

The aerodynamic theme of the Polara and Monaco, according to Dodge stylists, is carried out through a "molded, integrated form" giving a rounded fuselage effect to the over-all appearance of the car.

NOVEMBER 15 has been announced as the completion date for the first section of Autohaus Brugger's new $1,000,000 Mercedes-Benz dealership complex in Redwood City's rapidly developing "Motor City."

Located at 201 Main Street — just off Veterans Blvd. and near the Bayshore Freeway — the new plant, when fully completed, will service the entire Peninsula from San Jose to San Francisco.

Ford Adds a New Punch For Sports, Intermediate Line

Ford Motor Company will offer added "Punch" in its sports and intermediate car lines for 1969 with two new engines — a 250-cubic-inch six and a 351-cubic-inch V-8. Both are characterized by longer strokes for increased engine torque and improved exhaust emission control.

The new 250 six cylinder engine will be standard in the 1969 Ford Fairlane and Mercury Montego and optional in the Ford Mustang.

The latest addition to Ford's long line of V-8 engine offerings, the 351 will be available in two versions. One with a two-barrel carburetor (2V) will be standard in the Mercury Cougar and optional in the Fairlane, Montego and Mustang. A more powerful, premium-fuel version features a four-barrel carburetor (4V) with a higher compression ratio and will be optional in all four car lines.

"The 250 is a six that sounds and runs like an eight" according to William H. Gay, chief engineer for the company's engine and foundry division. "But along with this smoothness and performance, it still retains the traditional six-cylinder advantages of economy and simplicity."

The new six is an overhead-valve, in-line engine, with larger ports and a new head and manifold for freer breathing, in addition to new block, front cover and timing chain. It features seven main bearings and eight counter-weights on the crankshaft for quiet operation and reduced engine vibration.

Ford's new six — also called the "4.1 litre" in the fashion of European sports cars — has a bore of 3.68 inches with the stroke longer at 3.91 inches. The stroke is 25 per cent longer than that of Ford's 200-cubic-inch six.

Gay said the longer stroke "marks a new era in automotive engine design — a reversal from the trend of a decade ago to short-stroke design."

The Ford executive said extensive research indicated that longer stroke cylinder design aids in reducing emissions of hydrocarbons from vehicle exhausts. The longer stroke means lower bore-to-stroke ratios, resulting in improved combustion chamber surface-to-volume ratios for more complete burning of fuel in the cylinder.

$1 Million Mercedes-Benz Dealership Complex on Way

A $1-million Mercedes-Benz dealership complex is being built at 201 Main Street, Redwood City, in the heart of a developing "Motor City" in Mid-Peninsula.

The Autohaus Brugger plant will service the entire Peninsula and will be one of the most modern facilities in the West.

It will also be one of the largest parts depots of any Mercedes-Benz dealerships on the West Coast, supplying the firm's previous Palo Alto operation and possible future expansions into North San Mateo County.

The headquarters will coordinate all Mercedes-Benz sales and service on the Peninsula, and will boast easy access as well as convenient location.

The first unit of the complex, a $600,000 investment, will consist of a palatial first floor showroom — proclaimed to be the most luxurious in the Bay Area—to display luxury cars—with cathedral ceilings, curved glass enclosure and second-floor balcony for customers.

It will also contain an upstairs business office and a 16-stall, complete service department. It will be completed November 1.

The second section will have a new M-B bus line — smaller city buses and large cruisers, a body shop and diagnostic center.

The firm is exclusively Mercedes-Benz, new and used; it found the move to Redwood City necessitated by the needs of the many M-B owners in San Mateo County. "Autohaus Brugger" may now serve these, plus all new M-B owners, more effectively, it reports.
